DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to because Figs. 1-3 are unclear because of the excessive shading in them. The individual elements cannot be clearly discerned. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claim 1 recites the broad recitation "plates made of highly head conductive material", and the claim also recites "such as aluminum sheet", which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation. Claim 1 also contains the broad limitation of "means to hold said bags" and "such as gravity" in section C); "means to lightly squeeze" and "such as the weight of the upper plate" in section D); "means to apply heat" and "such as etched foil stick-on heaters" in section E); "means to sense temperature" and "such as thermistors" in section F); "means to control the temperature" and "such as electronic temperature controller" in section G); “means to oscillate” and “such as a motor-operated bellcrank” in section H); “means to keep said heating plates in contact” and “such as a dashpot” in section I); “means to adjust the spacing” and “such as an adjustable hinge..” in section J); and finally “means to determine” and “such as a thermistor” in section K). All require correction.

Further with respect to claim 1, the use of “highly” and “quickly” is found to be vague and indefinite because it is unclear as to exactly what would constitute either “highly” or “quickly”.

With respect to both claims 3 and 5, the use of “hot spots” is found to be vague and indefinite because it is unclear as to what would actually constitute a “hot spot”.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 1 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

Claims 2-5 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the closest prior art of record, namely Lionetti et al., U.S. patent No. 4,018,911 and Auerbach U.S. patent No. 4,801,777 and Coelho et al., U.S. patent No. 5,243,833, fail to clearly teach or suggest the provision of two heating plates maintained with a particular force therebetween while holding a bag with contents to be thawed, and with means to oscillate one of the plates relative to the other by a particular distance, frequency and with a particular force, as set forth by the independent claim 1.

As allowable subject matter has been indicated, applicant's reply must either comply with all formal requirements or specifically traverse each requirement not complied with. See 37 CFR 1.111(b) and MPEP § 707.07(a).
